Building Readers In Culver City

Starting April 4, 2006

We invite children to participate in this exciting, new and free reading program. Here's how it works: For every book you read you get to decorate a "BRICC", for display on the wall of the library. The goal is to build a whole house of BRICC's by the end of the 12-week session. It only takes 10 BRICCs, with prizes awarded for each one completed. And those who build an entire house will get a special prize. You can pick up an entry form at the library or at www.ccfol.org with all the details to get started. Help us lay a foundation for reading in Culver City. All participants are invited to the final BRICC celebration party on July 15, 2006.
